Murder Mystery

Our murder mystery event is one with a difference. We don't have actors grabbing the limelight but put the focus where it really should be (for team building anyway!) - on your participants. The teams quickly learn that they have been grouped to solve an intriguing crime.

Initially, teams race to gather as many clues as they can. The plot is complex. The more clues collected the greater the chance of seeing through a web of intrigue.

Each group shoots a short video sketch (in privacy of course!) showing us what they think happened. We provide a box of amusing props! So, in the course of the overall video, you will see the role of the main protagonist change three times - all adding to the hilarity. Communication between teams is the key to solving the puzzle.

The event ends with a viewing of the video. Each person casts their vote for the team that most amusingly interpreted their part of the plot. Prizes are awarded...a great event all round!

TEAM LEARNING: get to know one another, develop creativity, bond through having fun and learn to share and use information effectively.

"Our objectives have been well-reached: to get to know the colleagues in a less professional and discontinuous environment. This also allowed them to form bonds, relax and not take things too seriously."
