The network

The Network is an ideal opportunity for a team to think about how effectively it uses and shares information with one another, whilst having fun at the same time.

Working in sub-teams, comprising 3 to 5 participants, the objective of The Network is to exchange and combine information with other sub-teams in order to locate and open a hidden treasure chest. After a briefing and planning session we transport your team to a starting point - usually a forest or other attractive area of countryside - with a good network of footpaths leading off into the great unknown!

The route to the treasure chest is revealed by a complex flow diagram known as "The Network".

Each sub-team is in contact with all others using radio handsets. After some initial progress groups usually begin to encounter difficulties, and it rapidly becomes apparent that no one group has sufficient information to make real progress; only by sharing information and collaborating effectively can the final goal be reached.

The physical challenge of the event can be adapted to suit just about all levels and all equipment is provided including waterproof clothing.

TEAM LEARNING: Share information, develop a collaborative approach, learn an effective method of communication, and perform at a high level.

"Our session with the Eventus team was original, professional and friendly. My client was delighted by this adventure. What else?"
